Biographies for Volume 20, No. 1

Kirsten Ely received a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1988. She previously has been on the faculty at UCLA and Emory. Currently she is an associate professor at the DuPree College of Management at the Georgia Institute of Technology. Papers by Dr. Ely have appeared in Contemporary Research, the Journal of Accounting Research, and the Journal of Accounting, Auditing, and Finance.

John (Harry) Evans III is a Professor of Business Administration at the Katz Graduate School of Business, University of Pittsburgh. His research addresses accounting phenomena from an economic perspective. His current work includes analytical models of disclosure with shareholder litigation, empirical field work in managerial control and governance in health care organizations, and experimental examinations of the role of wealth maximization, equity and honesty in individual reporting decisions. Since Jan 1, 2000 he is the editor of the Journal of Management Accounting Research.

Yuhchang Hwang is an Associate Professor at School of Accountancy and Information Management, Arizona State University. His research interests are mainly in managerial accounting, supplier performance evaluation and healthcare management. His research has been published in Review of Accounting Studies, Journal of Accounting, Auditing, and Finance, Journal of Management, Accounting Research, and other journals.

Steven E. Kaplan, Professor of Accountancy and Information Management, received his Ph.D. in Accountancy from the University of Illinois. His research interests are in auditor judgement and ethical decision-making. He has published in a variety of academic journals, including the Journal of Accounting Research, The Accounting Review, Accounting, Organizations & Society, Auditing: A Journal of Practice & Theory and Journal of Accounting and Public Policy.

Bruce Miller is a Professor of Accounting at the Anderson School at UCLA. He received his Ph.D. in Operations Research from Stanford University. He has served as the Accounting Departmental Editor of Management Science and as the Anderson School’s Accounting Area Chair. Professor Miller has published in a number of journals including Journal of Accounting Research, Econometrica, Journal of Economic Theory, Journal of Applied Probability, SIAM Journal on Applied Mathematics, Annals of Mathematical Statistics, SIAM Journal on Control, Operations Research and Management Science.

Nandu J. Nagarajan is a professor of business administration at the Katz Graduate School of Business, University of Pittsburgh. His research interests are in the areas of performance measurement and incentive contracts, corporate governance and the management of technology and innovation. His research has been published in several journals including the Journal of Accounting and Economics, Journal of Accounting Research, Journal of Finance, Contemporary Accounting Research and Management Science.
Jacqueline L. Reck is an assistant professor at the University of South Florida in Tampa. She obtained her Ph. D. from the University of Missouri-Columbia. Her research interests include issues related to governmental financial reporting, including the market’s reaction to governmental accounting information and reported disclosures. In the corporate financial accounting area, her interests relate to the market’s reaction to the reporting of non-financial information.